

DAVE HAS A STEADY, CLEAN POWER JOB. CLEANER POWER MEANS GOOD JOBS FOR ME

“Since Reed & Reed started working with wind power, jobs here have doubled, and that’s great news for me and my family. While a lot of construction jobs are seasonal, now that we’ve taken on wind I can rely on year-round work.”

*Dave McDonough,
Reed & Reed, Woolwich, ME*

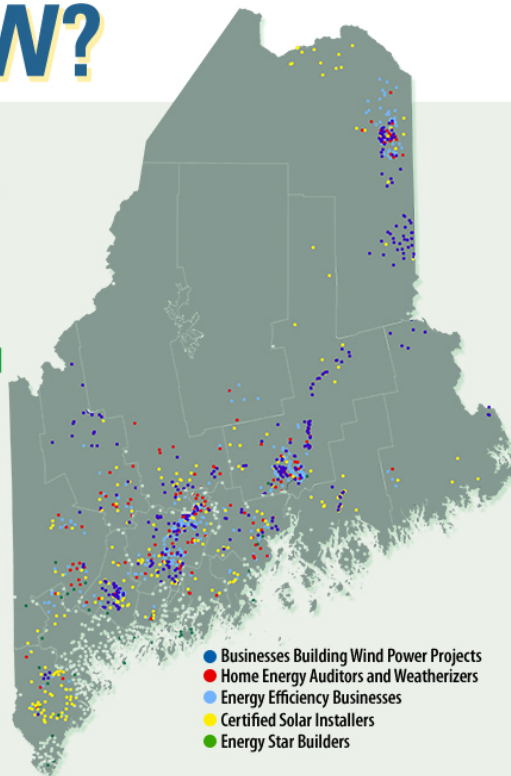

Tackling climate change, expanding Maine jobs

Natural Resources
Council of Maine

DID YOU KNOW?

Increasing Maine’s use of renewable energy is a key component of the Clean Power Plan. The clean energy economy is not a theoretical concept in Maine; it is here today and it is growing. More than 2,500 businesses in Maine currently are working to reduce Maine’s dependence on fossil fuels, cutting energy bills for Maine people and businesses, and building our clean energy economy. The development of wind power and other sources of renewable energy generates significant jobs in Maine today, and has great potential for future job growth - just another reason that Maine is so well-positioned to benefit from the Clean Power Plan.

Maine’s Climate Leadership is Growing Our Economy and Making Us Ready for the Clean Power Plan

Natural Resources
Council of Maine